Section 3: Translation:

Please translate the following passages into idiomatic English:

- 1 Contra Helvetios, qui in agros populorum vicinorum invadebant, Caesar bellum suscepit. Cum potuisset uno die pontem in Arari facere et suum exercitum traducere, Helvetii, qui diebus viginti idem difficillime confecerant, legatos ad eum miserunt. Hi ita dixerunt: "Si pacem populus Romanus nobiscum faciet, in illis finibus ubi volueris, manebimus..."

4 Against the Helvetians, who were invading the lands of neighboring peoples, Caesar undertook war. When he had been able to make a bridge on the Arar and ~~cross~~ lead his army across in one day, the Helvetians (who had done the same thing with extreme difficulty in 20 days) sent emissaries to him. These so spoke: "If the Roman people [will] make peace with us, we will remain in those boundaries where you wish have wanted..."

- 1 Cum ille occidisset, Atheniensēs de eo diu doluerunt, non solum in bello, autem, sed etiam in pace eum graviter desideraverunt. Fuit enim vir tantae liberalitatis, ut, cum multos hortos haberet, numquam in his custodias poneret; nam hortos liberrime patere voluit ne populus ab his fructibus prohiberetur.

When he had died, the Athenians mourned [over] him for a long time, ~~and~~ They desired him not only in war, however, but also dearly in peace. For he was a man of such great virtue that, although he had many gardens, he never put guards in them; for he wanted to leave his grounds most freely open, so that the people might not be prohibited from these fruits.
